

CELEBRATING INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S DAY

Oxford Brookes Athena SWAN Lecture 2017 and in celebration of International Women's Day

Smashing another glass ceiling

Karen Mattison MBE, Director of the Timewise Foundation, in conversation with Pro-Vice Chancellor Paul Inman on how to be ambitious and work part time

Hosted and supported by the Faculty of Technology, Design and Environment

Wednesday 8 March 6pm
JHB Lecture Theatre, Headington Campus

Karen Mattison MBE, hailed as one of 'Britain's Top 50 Radicals', and named a 'Business Hero' by Management Today magazine, will use her experiences of launching Women Like Us and Timewise to look at the challenge of how to fulfil your business and workplace ambitions, but keep the flexibility to live your non-work life to the full.

bit.ly/OxfordBrookes-smashing-another-glass-ceiling

Centre for Diversity Policy Research and Practice event for International Women's Day

Melanie Richards, Vice Chair and Partner at KPMG, will be in conversation with Professor Simonetta Manfredi

Thursday 16 March 6pm
Kennedy Room JHB 308, John Henry Brookes Building, Headington Campus

This conversation will explore Melanie Richards' distinguished career with more than 30 years of banking experience and her work to promote gender equality in the workplace.

Melanie received an Honorary Doctorate from Oxford Brookes in June 2016.

cdprp@brookes.ac.uk

bit.ly/OxfordBrookes-CDPRP-Melanie-Richards

International Women's Day