

Job description – health economist

Wickenstones is a growing management consultancy, looking to bring in a number of health economists at various levels (from entry to senior project managers) who will work with the senior leadership team of Wickenstones to:

- Deliver exceptional quality health economic evaluations for our clients: often focussing on key strategic questions (such as early economic models to shape development plans)
- Support our financial and other modelling to support projects in diverse areas (including pricing and managed entry schemes)
- Support wider analytics, including database/registry analyses and the development of real world evidence
- Get involved in, and contribute to, broad activities involved in market access

About us

Wickenstones is a fast-growing management consultancy with candidates and colleagues all over the world. We focus on offering Flexibility, Value and Clarity to our clients and to our employees. For you, this means that you work independently, are encouraged to bring your own ideas, have opportunities to work on varied and interesting projects and are treated as a core part of the team.

We are based near Abingdon in South Oxfordshire, and, whilst we encourage home-based and flexible working, ideally new recruits will be based in the office for at least a significant proportion of their time.

Who we're looking for

Skills and knowledge

- Master's degree in a relevant discipline (strongly preferred)
- Sound knowledge of economics and market access (essential)
- Very strong modelling skills (strongly preferred)
- Knowledge of the pharmaceutical industry and challenges of health technology assessment (preferred)
- Excellent IT skills including VBA programming and Stata (strongly preferred)
- Experience in economic consulting and/or as a healthcare professional such as a pharmacist would be an advantage
- Ability and willingness to travel, within the UK and abroad, would be an advantage

Personal attributes

- Highly articulate and confident
- Extremely well structured in approach, and able to break down problems into bite-size chunks

- Able to grasp complex issues quickly
- Flexible and excited by complex questions
- Direct and open to learning new things
- Prepared to work hard to meet ambitious deadlines and exceed clients' expectations

How to apply

Send your CV to sarah@wickenstones.com. We will respond within five working days

Applicants must have the right to work in the UK.