

Symposium

Friday 12th May 2017

Place: London Metropolitan Archives,
40 Northampton Rd. EC1R 0HB

Migration

&

Heritage

Let's Talk About it !

Migration is an issue for all countries. It changes, reorders, shuffles, redefines and recreates the familiar. It facilitates change and goes against the desire for fixed, permanent stories of history. Or does it?

£10 concessions (£5 Booking essential)

Time: 10.30am to 3.30pm

Book on Eventbrite or call 0207 332 3851

Event Highlights

Event Details

10:00am –Arrival

-Tea /Coffee

10:30-Welcome & Overview

10:40-History Explaining the Modern World: Migration, Empire and the Historic Environment

Speaker: Dan Lyndon- Cohen

11:10 -Image and Reality of Black African presence in Tudor England

Speaker: Michael Ohajuru

11:40 -Black History Month in Epping Forest

Speaker: Sophie Lillington

12:10 -Family Ties Adamah Papers

Speaker: Victoria Northridge

12:40 - 1:30-Lunch Break

1:30 – 2:10 –Healing Through Archive

Speaker: Abira Hussein

Migration and implications for physical and mental health

Speaker: Jenny Altschuler

2:10– 2:40 -Migration Museum Project workshop

Speaker: Emily Miller, & Liberty Melly

2:40 – 3:10-Plenary Q & A

-A review of the day's topics.

A review of the day's topics.

3:15 – 3:30-Networking

3:30 Close of Event

History Explaining the Modern World: Migration, Empire and the Historic Environment by Dan Lyndon- Cohen

This talk will provide an overview of the GCSE History courses offered by the OCR exam board and some case studies of the course content being taught.

Image and Reality of Black African presence in Tudor England by Michael Ohajuru

A review of the image and reality of the black African presence in Tudor England comparing the depiction of John Blanke in the 1511 Westminster Tournament Roll from the College of Arms collection.

Black History Month in Epping Forest by Sophie Lillington

In 2015, Epping Forest participated in Black History Month for the first time with an exhibition in the 1543 Queen Elizabeth's Hunting Lodge about Black Tudors. This presentation explains how we went about the project and what our visitors said about it

Family Ties—The Adamah Papers by Victoria Northridge

The focus of this talk is an overview of the Adamah papers which holds the migratory history of King, Fia Adamah of Ghana

Healing Through Archives by Abira Hussein

To discuss the powers of the archive as a resource that values the histories and experiences of its contributors and ask how best to utilize it.

Migration and implications for physical and mental health

by Jenny Altschuler

Drawing on clinical and research experience this presentation explores the psychological challenges migration poses to migrants (including refugees) and their non- migrant kin

Migration Museum Project workshop

by Emily Miller, and Liberty Melly

The workshop will be about setting up a migration museum and a museum education programme from scratch, and moving from a pop-up and virtual model to a new home.