

CURATING THE GREAT WAR

IWM London 13-14 September 2018

DAY ONE: THURSDAY 13 SEPTEMBER

40.00
10.00	Coffee
10.30	Welcome and introduction
	Suzanne Bardgett, IWM Head of Research and Academic Partnerships
	Keynote address
	Professor Jay Winter, Yale University
	The Great War and the memory boom, 1914-2018
	Session 1: Museums, communities and the centenary of the Great War
	Dr Paul Wright, McCord Centre for Landscape, Newcastle University
	Community coaching for heritage morsels
	Dr Franco Nicolis, Director of the Archaeological Heritage Office of the Autonomous Province of Trento
	'And in this uniform of your soldier I rest as if it were my father's cradle'. Displaying uniforms as bodies.
	unijornis us boures.
	Martin Barry, University of Bristol
	How do you dig a trench in an upstairs gallery? (Priest's House Museum)
	Then do you dig a trenen in an apotano ganery, (Friest's riouse museum)
13.00	Lunch
14.00	Session 2: Museums, communities and the centenary of the Great War
	Professor Ana Carden-Coyne, University of Manchester
	Sensory Wars: Contemporary Pasts and Contestable Futures
	Siobhán Doyle, Dublin School of Creative Arts, Dublin Institute of Technology
	Representing Death and Conflict in 1916 Commemorative Exhibitions
	Dominiek Dendooven, In Flanders Fields Museum, Ieper
	Curating the 'Greater War'
	Željko Cimprič, Kobarid Museum
	The tale of World War 1 on the Walk of Peace from the Alps to the Adriatic

DAY 2: FRIDAY 14 SEPTEMBER

09.30	Session 1: Museums, communities and the centenary of the Great War
	Professor Steve Dixon Crafts Research Group leader, Manchester School of Art
	What Need of Tears? Developing practice-led public engagement and exhibition strategies based on the material resonance and memorialisation of the Great War.
	Yewande Okuleye, University of Leicester
	Sergeant Major Belo Akure: A Nigerian Soldier Missing in Action
10.30	Coffee
11.00
11.00	Session 2: Curating the material remains of the Great War
	Marc Dewilde et al, Flemish Heritage Agency
	Curating the archaeology of the Great War in Flanders: New perspectives?
	Professor Stephen Badsey, University of Wolverhampton
	An Uncertain Legacy: the 1980s re-cataloguing of the 'IWM Series' of films at the Imperial War Museum and the Centenary Commemoration of the First World War
	Dr hab Anna Zalewska & Jacek Czarnecki, University of Maria Sklodowska-Curie and Institute of Archaeology and Ethnology Polish Academy of Sciences Material remains of the First World War in central Poland: Archaeology and the curatorial challenge in 2018
	Dr Dawid Kobialka, Institute of Archaeology and Ethnology Polish Academy of Sciences
	The Great War and trench art from a prisoner of war camp in Czersk, Poland
	The Great war and trenen are from a prisoner of war camp in ezersk, roland
	Dr Quintin Colville, National Maritime Museum
	Prized possessions: medals, relics and the First World War at sea
	The possessions. The dais, refles and the thist world war at sea
13.00	Lunch
13.00 14.00	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014
	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014
	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014 Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum,
	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014 Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum, Berlin
	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014 Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum, Berlin How to win the War in an Exhibition: German Military Museums and the First World War
	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014 Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum, Berlin How to win the War in an Exhibition: German Military Museums and the First World War
	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014 Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum, Berlin How to win the War in an Exhibition: German Military Museums and the First World War 1914-1945
	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014 Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum, Berlin How to win the War in an Exhibition: German Military Museums and the First World War 1914-1945 Alessandra Martina, Museo della Grande Guerra, Gorizia
	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014 Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum, Berlin How to win the War in an Exhibition: German Military Museums and the First World War 1914-1945 Alessandra Martina, Museo della Grande Guerra, Gorizia (The Museum of the Great War in Gorizia)
	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014 Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum, Berlin How to win the War in an Exhibition: German Military Museums and the First World War 1914-1945 Alessandra Martina, Museo della Grande Guerra, Gorizia (The Museum of the Great War in Gorizia) Željko Cimprič, Kobarid Museum
14.00	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014 Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum, Berlin How to win the War in an Exhibition: German Military Museums and the First World War 1914-1945 Alessandra Martina, Museo della Grande Guerra, Gorizia (The Museum of the Great War in Gorizia) Željko Cimprič, Kobarid Museum Curating the Great War in the Kobarid Museum
	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014 Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum, Berlin How to win the War in an Exhibition: German Military Museums and the First World War 1914-1945 Alessandra Martina, Museo della Grande Guerra, Gorizia (The Museum of the Great War in Gorizia) Željko Cimprič, Kobarid Museum Curating the Great War in the Kobarid Museum Coffee
14.00	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014 Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum, Berlin How to win the War in an Exhibition: German Military Museums and the First World War 1914-1945 Alessandra Martina, Museo della Grande Guerra, Gorizia (The Museum of the Great War in Gorizia) Željko Cimprič, Kobarid Museum Curating the Great War in the Kobarid Museum Coffee Dr James Wallis, University of Exeter
14.00	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014 Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum, Berlin How to win the War in an Exhibition: German Military Museums and the First World War 1914-1945 Alessandra Martina, Museo della Grande Guerra, Gorizia (The Museum of the Great War in Gorizia) Željko Cimprič, Kobarid Museum Curating the Great War in the Kobarid Museum Coffee
14.00	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014 Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum, Berlin How to win the War in an Exhibition: German Military Museums and the First World War 1914-1945 Alessandra Martina, Museo della Grande Guerra, Gorizia (The Museum of the Great War in Gorizia) Željko Cimprič, Kobarid Museum Curating the Great War in the Kobarid Museum Coffee Dr James Wallis, University of Exeter The Imperial War Museum – A Space of Conflict
14.00	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014 Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum, Berlin How to win the War in an Exhibition: German Military Museums and the First World War 1914-1945 Alessandra Martina, Museo della Grande Guerra, Gorizia (The Museum of the Great War in Gorizia) Željko Cimprič, Kobarid Museum Curating the Great War in the Kobarid Museum Coffee Dr James Wallis, University of Exeter
14.00	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014 Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum, Berlin How to win the War in an Exhibition: German Military Museums and the First World War 1914-1945 Alessandra Martina, Museo della Grande Guerra, Gorizia (The Museum of the Great War in Gorizia) Željko Cimprič, Kobarid Museum Curating the Great War in the Kobarid Museum Coffee Dr James Wallis, University of Exeter The Imperial War Museum – A Space of Conflict
15.00	Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum, Berlin How to win the War in an Exhibition: German Military Museums and the First World War 1914-1945 Alessandra Martina, Museo della Grande Guerra, Gorizia (The Museum of the Great War in Gorizia) Željko Cimprič, Kobarid Museum Curating the Great War in the Kobarid Museum Coffee Dr James Wallis, University of Exeter The Imperial War Museum – A Space of Conflict Professor Peter Simkins, University of Wolverhampton, President of the Western Front Association (Summary)
14.00	Session 3: Museological responses to the Great War 1914-2014 Dr Thomas Weissbrich, Head of Military Collections, Deutsches Historisches Museum, Berlin How to win the War in an Exhibition: German Military Museums and the First World War 1914-1945 Alessandra Martina, Museo della Grande Guerra, Gorizia (The Museum of the Great War in Gorizia) Željko Cimprič, Kobarid Museum Curating the Great War in the Kobarid Museum Coffee Dr James Wallis, University of Exeter The Imperial War Museum – A Space of Conflict Professor Peter Simkins, University of Wolverhampton, President of the Western Front