

Understanding the Power of Brainfingers: A brain-computer Interface System 5th February 2019

The Regional Communication Aid Service (RCAS) are excited to announce this fantastic training day led by Dr Andrew Junker PhD, developer of the Brainfingers. Brainfingers captures, analyses and makes available both brain and body signals for computer control.

This one day workshop is aimed at professionals working with clients who have complex communication difficulties who also have locked in syndrome, minimal controllable movement and/or complex physical difficulties.

Venue: Centre for Neurorehabilitation and Neuropsychiatry,
Walkergate Park, Benfield Road, Newcastle. NE46 4QD

Cost: £200

For further details and for course booking please email: heather.scorfield@ntw.nhs.uk

Sponsored by

Smartbox