

HERMENEUTIC PHENOMENOLOGY METHODOLOGY COURSE

Join us for the 2019 methodology course in hermeneutic phenomenology

Monday 8 - Friday 12 July, 2019

At the University of Central Lancashire, Preston

We are delighted to invite you to this joint venture between the University of Central Lancashire and Robert Gordon University. We hope that you can join us and take part in a hermeneutic phenomenology methodology course. The course is aimed at postgraduate research students, researchers and academics working within health and social care areas who are new/novices in this theoretical and methodological approach.

During the course, participants will receive an introduction to, and beginning experience in, designing hermeneutic phenomenology studies, collecting and analysing data, and reporting themes,

Learning outcomes for this course:

- Appreciation of the background into the philosophical
- Appreciation of the Background into the philosophical underpinnings of hermeneutic phenomenology
 Gain insights into key philosophical notions described by key philosophers (Heidegger, Gadamer, etc.) and how these can be applied within health and social care research
- How to design and conduct hermeneutic phenomenology
- and publications) in a way that is congruent with this methodology

The sessions will run from 9.30am-4.30pm each day and will involve presentations and small and large group activities (and feedback sessions). In order to encourage participants to share and discuss their ideas, delegates will have an opportunity to present their research ideas or early insights for informal peer feedback.

The first four days (Monday-Thursday) will focus on 'how to do' a hermeneutic phenomenological study. On Friday 12 July, a symposium will be held whereby experienced researchers who have used a hermeneutic phenomenological approach will demonstrate how philosophical concepts can be applied to illuminate meaning within health and social care related research projects. This event will also include a panel discussion, providing opportunities for further questioning and elaboration.

Methodology Course Booking and Enquiries:

in Preston. The fee for the five day course is £475 which includes refreshments (tea and coffee), a delegate pack and lunch on the details can be accessed via the website uclan.ac.uk/conferences (approx. £30). Please indicate on the booking form if you would like to attend this event.

There are a limited number of places on the course, and event and campus location will be issued prior to the event.

Key facilitators:

Dr Gill Thomson

Reader (Associate Professor) in Perinatal Health, Maternal and Infant Nutrition and Nurture Unit, University of Central Lancashire, Preston.

Email: Gthomson@uclan.ac.uk

Dr Susan Crowther Visiting Professor of Midwifery, Robert Gordon University, Aberdeen.

Email: s.a.crowther@rgu.ac.uk

For queries please contact: Liz Roberts, UCLan Conference and Events ConferenceAndEvents@uclan.ac.uk 01772 892650. or visit the website uclan.ac.uk/conferences

To book a place, please complete the online booking form on the website uclan.ac.uk/conferences - online card payment option available at time of booking, or other payment options are listed on the website.

