

Boot Camp Winter Workshop: Decolonial Methods in Social and Solidarity Economies

While studying decoloniality, one often struggles with how to move from theory to practice. Have you ever wondered how to start a non-capitalist economic project in a collective but didn't know how to begin? Have you ever wondered how to use participatory action research to create a small social and/or solidarity economy? Are you into commoning? Do you long to do decolonial economic research but don't know how to engage local and indigenous non-western economic practices within an economic project?

When: January 5-10, 2020

Application Deadline: Oct. 1, 2019

Where: El Cambalache
San Cristobal de las Casas
Chiapas, Mexico

Program:

5 Sunday 6 Monday 7 Tuesday 8 Wednesday 9 Thursday 10 Friday

10am - 2pm	Arrival	500 Years of Economic Resistance in the Americas	Green Economies: Destruction and Eviction in Green Capitalist Development	Free Day-Context Building	Valuing Resources in Practice	Visit to Local Projects TBD
		Green Economies: Destruction and Eviction in Green Capitalist Development	Diverse Decolonial Economies in the Americas: Historic and Contemporary Practices as Resistance, Autonomy and Subsistence	Free Day-Context Building	Collective Participatory Methodologies: Overcoming Barriers in Critical, Conscious, Consumption
4pm- 8pm	Welcome	Green Economies: Destruction and Eviction in Green Capitalist Development	Valuing Resources in Practice	Free Day-Context Building	Decolonial Feminist Economics as Praxis in the Majority World of the Americas: Women's, Economies Making Collective Practices	Participatory Methods for Creating: Solidarity, Decolonial, and/or Non-hierarchical Micro-Economies
	Introduction Participant Presentations
	Drinks/Chocolate Meet n Greet					Closing

For more information see: <https://cambalache.noblogs.org/>

FB: Cambalache Sancristobal

Contact: Dr. Erin Araujo cambalach@autoproduzioni.net