Save
the dates!

Join us for our events in London dedicated to implementation science – the scientific study and practice of implementing research findings into routine health and social care. The key dates for your diary are:

Wed 15 and
Thurs 16 July
2020

Implementation Science Masterclass

This two-day Masterclass includes lectures from international experts in the field, group workshops, and advice on how to work on your own implementation projects. You will learn about everything from selecting theories, models and frameworks in the early stages of a project, through to measuring effectiveness and implementation, and on to getting your research published.

Delegates from the Masterclass 2019 said:

'[The faculty] brought the programme to life and were approachable, fun and not elitist'

'I have come away with new knowledge and understanding and more confidence'

Where: King's College London
Guy's Campus, SE1 1UL

Fri 17 July
2020

3rd UK Implementation Science Annual Research Conference

This is the only research conference dedicated to implementation science in the UK. The conference will showcase the latest implementation science research applied to health and social care, and will include plenary lectures, oral and poster presentations, and parallel sessions.

Delegates from the 2019 conference said:

'Great talks, high-quality, good amount of time to network'

'Great mix of early career researchers and more senior scientists'

Where: King's College London
Denmark Hill Campus, SE5 8AF
